PRICE TWO CENTS

COUNCIL FIXES NEW LICENSES

Fees are Set for Various Stands, for Circuses, and for Other Things.

MOVIE LICENSES GRADED

Ten Cents per Seat per Year is Determined upon as Fair Way to Make the Charge.

The town council, at an adjourned session of their regular May meeting Monday evening enacted a new ordinance covering the licensing of various kinds of shows, of stands placed along the streets, and of transient merchants.

The first section of the measure provides for a daily license of from $25 to $50 for circuses or menageries; one to ten dollars for side shows; and one to five dollars for merry-go-rounds. These amounts are to be levied at the discretion of the burgess, being regulated by the size of the attraction. A change in the motion picture license was also made. In the past it has been $40 a year. It will now be 10 cents per seat per year, making the Lincoln Way license about $50 and the Photoplay about $30.

The second provision of the ordinance makes it unlawful to "offer for sale goods, wares, or merchandise from any fixed or temporary stand, wagon, cart or other vehicle remaining in practically the same location longer than fifteen minutes except on market days and in market spaces or on any other location on the square, streets, lanes, alleys, or any other public places, within said borough, except upon the payment of a license of $5 per day, or $15 per year". The section also gives the burgess the right to restrict such licenses so that they may not be used when it would be unsafe or prejudicial to the public to have such stands or vehicles located at public places.

An effort to pass sections of the ordinance which provided for the licensing of men who peddle fish and other sea foods, meat, milk, bread, and cakes failed.

After disposing of these sections council voted favorably on the section which prevents any one engaging in a transient business in the borough "for the sale of any goods, wares, or merchandise whatever, whether the same shall be represented or advertised, in whole or the greater part, to consist of the goods of any bankrupt, assignee, receiver, or a person, firm or corporation about to go out of business or goods that have been damaged in any way, except upon the payment of a license fee of $200 for each calendar month or fraction thereof". This last section follows the borough code, and is intended to protect the town against concerns that come in, hold a sale, and then leave.

Fine and imprisonment are provided for violation of the first two sections passed, while a fine of $25 is provided for each day of violation of the section covering transients.

The ordinance provides that "nothing in this ordinance contained shall be construed as applying to any farmer who sells his own produce in or about the streets of the borough, except that he may not locate his wagon, cart or other vehicle in violation of the proviso in sub-section B", which is the second part of the ordinance as noted above.

Messrs. Dougherty, Hartman, and Tawney were absent from the meeting; Mr. Winter voted against the measure, while all the others voted for it, and it will become a law upon receiving the Burgess' signature and being advertised for ten days.

Residents of Springs avenue asked that they be allowed half of the fifty barrels of street oil on hand from last year. Council decided not to use any oil until enough was secured for all.

FOR LONG MAIL ROUTE

Would Run Trucks through here on Cross-State Trips.

It is now considered probable that a direct parcel post and mail system connecting Philadelphia and Pittsburgh will be installed. Motor trucks will be used by the postoffice department for this purpose and the Lincoln Highway will be followed in making the trip. This is the longest trip of the kind so far considered by the department.

The trucks, starting at either city, will make a continuous run. It is now contemplated that drivers will be changed at each end and possibly one point between. In this manner, parcel post or other mail matter directed to Pittsburgh or other points on the route, will be delivered from Philadelphia without having to undergo more than the handling of one loading and unloading. It is thought that the trip can be made in 24 hours.

LITTLE INTEREST IN THE ELECTION

And Small Vote is Expected in Spring Primaries. Some of the Contests.

The spring primaries to-day are apparently bringing out only a very light vote. Reports from various districts say that there is comparatively little interest in the state issues, while local contests have but a passing concern for the majority of the voters. Farmers were busy with their work and the vote in the rural districts, when tallied, is expected to be exceptionally small.

The contest for governor on the Republican ticket possibly overshadowed that on the Democratic side, and there was some interest there over the probable outcome. The Democratic congressional contest also had some workers who were pressing forward their candidates rather energetically, while both parties had on a rather lively fight for the nomination for the state legislature.

The dry forces of the county have been working quietly though apparently with effect for the ratification of the Constitutional Amendment and, at a recent meeting of the local federation, it was reported that all legislative candidates were pledged to support the measure. To emphasize the necessity for men to vote for all "dry" candidates the St. Courageous W. C. T. U. had church bells rung at intervals during the day. It is believed that local results will be tallied promptly this evening though there is so little interest in the outcome that there is not likely to be a general tabulation until the official returns are made on Wednesday.

HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Saw and Motor Car Responsible for
Two of them.

J. J. Redding, residing near town, was painfully hurt on Monday while he was sawing wood at his farm. He leaned over to fasten a peg at the saw, when the sharp teeth of the revolving blade caught him in the hip, cutting a deep gash, five inches in length, which required eight stitches to close.

Morgan Mickley is recovering at his home on Springs avenue from injuries received Sunday evening near Emmitsburg when he was returning from Washington with a machine loaded with officers. His car required some attention and while he was standing in the road another car crashed into the Mickley machine. He was thrown to the road and sustained a cut on the side of the head which required six stitches to close. One of the officers has a fractured collarbone as a result of the accident. Army physicians attended the injured men.

CAMP COLT MEN ARE REVIEWED

Made Fine Showing as they Assembled for their Inspection To-Day.

NUMBER MUCH INCREASED

And Men Present Fine Appearance.
Great Majority are Recruits without Previous Training.

The troops at Camp Colt, all those except the men in the Casual Company, were drawn up for review this morning and presented an exceptionally fine appearance. The occasion for it was the visit of Captain Hobson who was here on an inspection tour. The showing was doubly creditable when it was taken into consideration that the great majority of the men are recruits and have had but a short time to absorb their military training.

All of the men were drawn up for the inspection, the long lines stretching across the parade ground in perfect alignment and indicating the rapid manner in which the camp has been filling and the careful and efficient training that has been given them since their arrival here.

The review had to be held without the inspiration of band music, a lack which took from it some of the spectacular. Only one review has been held here with music and in that instance the college band was pressed into service. There seems to be no immediate probability of a band being stationed here, a fact that has caused some regret among the people of town who recall with much pleasure the concerts and parades of last summer.

The increasing number of men in the camp is reflected very noticeably in the number on the streets of town every evening. Canvass is being placed to handle those who cannot be accommodated in the buildings. It is stated on good authority, however, that so far there has been no authorization for more barracks, a persistent rumor to the contrary notwithstanding.

While the days are devoted to hard drill work and instruction along various lines, the evenings are usually quite free except for the men who must attend school. Base ball, swimming, and other forms of recreation hold sway in camp, while Y. M. C. A. tents hold their usual number.

The recreation rooms in the churches of town are even more popular than last year. Socials are held every evening of the week except Saturday, and a new feature is an officers' social, the first of which was held last week and was so well attended that it was determined to make it a weekly affair.

ARENDSVILLE TO HEAR DR. SPARKS

State College President to be Commencement Day Speaker at that Place.

Dr. Edwin Earl Sparks, president of Pennsylvania State College, will make the commencement address at the graduation exercises of the Arendtsville Vocational School on the evening of Monday, May 27th. He is probably the most prominent speaker ever brought here for a county high school commencement and securing him for the Arendtsville program is a matter for general gratification.

The exercises will be held in the Lutheran church at Arendtsville and will include, in addition to Dr. Sparks' address, a number of musical numbers by the pupils of the school, the salutatory by Eva Kenyette Garretson, and the valedictory by Eva Frances Groupe, the various class day numbers, a duet by Mrs. M. K. Eckert and Miss Reba Miller, of Gettysburg, and the presentation of diplomas.

Dr. Sparks' subject will be "The Call of the Hour". The diplomas will be presented by L. H. Dennis, director of agricultural education for this state.

Inasmuch as the Arendtsville Vocational School covers not only the town but several of the townships nearby the event will be a matter of widespread interest.

The class roll includes Alice Lillian Dome, Eva Kenyette Garretson, Eva Frances Groupe, Mary Roberts, and Earl Edward Weaver.

YORK WOULD GET TRAIL'S TERMINUS

That City Starts Organized Effort to Get Road that Seeks Gettysburg.

Committees representing the York Chamber of Commerce, the York Rotary Club, the York Kiwanis Club, the York Motor Club, and the York County Automobile Dealers' Association met Monday to discuss plans to put York on the so-called Susquehanna Trail.

The Susquehanna Trail is establishing a route north and south through this state. So far the trail extends from Lawrenceville, following the Susquehanna river as closely as possible to Harrisburg. The next link will be from Harrisburg to the Lincoln Highway, and the trail will tap that highway either at Gettysburg or York.

On June 12 the board of governors of the trail will leave Williamsport in the morning and arrive at Harrisburg about one p. m. The York men will go to Harrisburg in automobiles carrying banners, and decorate the roads with signs. There they will meet the board and take them to York over State Highway Route No. 252, a distance of twenty-nine miles, and take them to the York Motor Club for dinner. The visitors will spend the night at the Colonial Hotel and then come to Gettysburg.

After they have established the link between Harrisburg and York or Gettysburg they will continue to Baltimore and finish their trip at Washington. The community which shows the most interest will be placed on the trail. Each member will be expected to pay $1 per year as dues in the association. The money will go toward the purchase of metallic signs to mark the trail.

SPORTSMEN TO MEET

Local Association to Discuss Topic of Importance.

A meeting of the Adams County Game and Fish Protective Association will be held in the Court House on Thursday evening to discuss the proposition of asking for a closed season for grouse. The majority of the counties of the state have asked for such action by the Game Commission, and the local organization will express its desires one way or the other, according to the decision to be reached Thursday night.

FIRST TOWN TO GET ALLOTMENT

Biglerville More than Doubles its Quota in Red Cross Campaign now on.

SOME BIG SUBSCRIPTIONS

Canvass of Towns and Rural Districts is Occupying Time of Earnest
Solicitors.

Biglerville, first over the top in the Liberty Loan campaign, is also first over the top in the Red Cross drive. With an allotment of $200, the town has already subscribed $540, and one-third of the territory is yet to be covered. Arthur E. Rice is the sub-chairman.

C. H. Musselman, one of the town's most successful citizens, gave the town's total a big boost with a subscription of $300. The district of which Biglerville is the center has an allotment of $825. The other sections are Butler township and a part of Menallen. It is expected that the district will be up to its quota within a day or two and that it will likely go considerably over its minimum mark.

Gettysburg's workers started their active canvass to-day. The largest single subscription yet tallied is that of Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. McPherson for $500. Another $500, subscribed by a donor whose name has not yet been given out, is to be counted as the last $500 toward making up the county's allotment.

A number of inquiries have been received as to the amount of Gettysburg's allotment, $5538. This includes not only the town but the following nearby districts: Cumberland township, $650, with Adam Redding and W. G. Durbanow as sub-chairmen; Highland township, $200, Samuel Lott sub-chairman; Upper End of Mt. Pleasant, $241, Rev. J. C. Nichols; Freedom township, $210, J. Luther Scott; Upper End of Mt. Joy, $237, Rev. E. Stockslager. This leaves Gettysburg alone $4000 to raise.

A meeting is to be held at Abbottstown this evening which will be addressed by Corporal Lemon and Mr. Bible, two speakers sent from the State headquarters of the Red Cross.

Attention is called to the fact that before the end of the week national banks will likely be given federal authority to subscribe to this drive. Chairmen are urged to receive such banks' subscriptions contingent upon the required authority being granted.

The total this morning as reported by the various sub-chairmen was $2215 divided as follows:

STILL AFTER GATES

Urge that this County Remove Toll
Lifters.

In telling of the meeting of the Waynesboro Motor Club the "Record" of that place says:

"The removal of the toll gates on the remaining part of the Waynesboro, Greencastle and Mercersburg turnpike in Adams County was discussed by the members to some length. The local club is especially interested in the removal of these last remnants to all motorists and will render all aid possible in securing their removal. Adams County persons, who are deeply interested in traveling without being subject to toll, are adopting much the same procedure that was employed by the motor club members of this town. With the gates of the adjoining county removed local tourists can travel west, north and eastwards without thoughts of reaching into their pockets to pay toll."

COUNTY BOYS IN MIMIC BATTLE

Their Regiment Acquires Itself
Creditably in Maneuver at Camp Meade.

The 316th Infantry, of which most of the Adams County boys at Camp Meade are members "did good work" dispatches to-day state in telling of maneuvers held Monday when Washington was theoretically saved from the Germans.

Infantry, supported by machine gun companies, the engineers and signal battalions, successfully defended the capital and Government buildings. President Wilson, and even the members of Congress, were saved from capture.

Early in the morning the approach of the enemy was signaled to Lieutenant Colonel Knowles, commanding the defenders. He threw four regiments of infantry into the fray, and after considerable maneuvering, checked the attackers and drove them in utter rout away from the field.

By keeping the advance ranks closely in touch with headquarters, the wireless men of the signal corps did splendid work, and at no time were the reinforcements in the rear out of communication with the front.

Although the attack of course was not real, it was hot while it lasted. The enemy existed only in theory, but the field movements were actually carried out as though an actual army was opposing. The boys of the 315th Infantry—Philadelphia troops—were in the fray from start to finish. The 314th and 316th, composed mostly of Pennsylvanians, also did good work.

Camp Meade is to have its own dramatic corps. Its members will be instructed how to act and also how to drive dull care away both from themselves as well as others. W. F. Rochester, well known in the theatrical world, has been sent there by the War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities as the director.

With the American Army in Picardy, May 21—An American reconnaissance patrol penetrated the German wire, put the enemy patrol to flight, and then returned to the American lines.

There has been great aerial activity during the past few days. Bombs dropped near an American hospital failed to do any damage.

FRENCH ADVANCE THEIR POSITIONS

AMERICAN AVIATORS BUSY

Now Hold Supremacy of the Air in Toul Sector, German Wary of Attacking our Flyers.

London, May 21.—In sharp operations around Loere, French troops made an important advance on a front of more than two miles and captured over 400 prisoners, according to Field Marshal Haig's night report from British Headquarters in France. The text of the report reads: "During the night French troops carried out successful operations east and north-east of Loere. All their objectives were gained on a front of some 4,000 yards and over 400 prisoners were captured.

"Local fighting occurred early this morning north of Albert. As a result a few of our men are missing. A party of our troops rushed a German post east of Hebuterne and captured a few prisoners and two machine guns.

"The hostile artillery has shown considerable activity with gas shells in the section north of Bethune."

With the American Army in France, May 21.—Control of the air no longer belongs to the Germans along the Toul sector. Aerial activity there seems to be increasing daily, but the Germans are not permitted to prowl about freely.

Fighting American airmen have locked wings with the enemy, and the tally of machines brought down is overwhelmingly in their favor. In fact, they have had such good fortune that they are wondering whether it can keep up without change. They are not passing by a single chance to get at the enemy.

The German airmen have started to fly in flocks, at a great height. Early Sunday morning, for instance, five of them came over together at 6,000 metres, 2,000 above the ordinary fire of the "archies". The alarm was given promptly; but the Germans were keeping a sharp lookout, and as soon as they saw five American pursuit planes climbing to meet them they turned and started home rapidly. Two hostile airplanes were brought down Sunday by American aviators.

More German squadrons have made their appearance opposite the American sector, but to the Americans the increased number simply means that many more chances of adding notches to their machine guns. But while the enemy has increased the number of his flyers his airmen in turn have increased their caution.

Only seldom does a Boche venture far within the American lines. When he does he usually takes advantage of the clouds and flies so high that he can get home before it is possible for our aviators to ascend to his altitude. On the other hand, our flyers daily penetrate Germany for a great distance.

Lieut. Douglas Campbell to-day gained his second aerial victory. On the Toul sector he shot down in flames an enemy biplane containing two officers.

Returning from a trip over Germany, at a height of 4,500 metres, the Lieutenant met a German photographic biplane going home. He maneuvered until he got under the tail of the German machine, and then opened fire. The German machine burst into flames and fell inside the American lines south-east of Flirey.

The German biplane brought down by Capt. David Peterson, of Honesdale, his third since May 15, was conquered after a flight five kilometers within the German lines. Peterson and another pilot came upon two enemy machines, one 2,000 metres high and the other 3,000. The Americans each picked out an enemy airplane and attacked it.

Captain Peterson, diving on to the tail of the one 2,000 metres high, fired 30 shots at close range. The enemy went into a spinning nose dive and crashed to earth. The other machine escaped.

BOTTLED UP IN BRUGES

Photos Show U-boats have been Immobilized.

London, May 21.—"The recent fine weather," says an official statement issued by the British Admiralty, "has enabled constant air reconnaissance over Bruges and the Zebrugge-Bruges canal to be made and photographs to be taken. The results show no change has taken place since April 23 and that a greater part of the enemy's submarines and torpedo craft based on the Flanders coast had been immobilized at Bruges since the Zebrugge blocking operation."

CRACK AMERICAN AVIATOR KILLED

Raoul Lufberry Shot Down by German Two-Seater. Jumped from Flaming Machine.

With the American Army in France, May 21.—Major Raoul Lufberry, the crack American aviator and the first American ace to lose his life in aerial fights, was shot down Sunday by a big German triplane, which he was attacking. Lufberry jumped from his flaming machine when 800 yards above the ground. He had 17 victories to his credit.

He was buried Monday with full military honors by French and American detachments.

It was about 10 o'clock in the morning when a German triplane suddenly descended from the clouds, apparently because of engine trouble, until it was only some 1,500 meters over the city of Toul. The American flyers were on the alert and some of them headed for the fighting line to await the enemy on his return.

Lufberry and the pilot of another machine made after the German, who quickly ran away from the direction of the line, the two American machines following him. Eight miles away from the enemy's line Lufberry was seen to attack from under the tail, but then he drew off as if his machine gun had jammed. Two minutes later he attacked again from the same position and almost immediately his machine burst into flames.

The Americans on the ground and hundreds of French men and women going to church along the country roads were horror stricken as they saw the airplane like a ball of fire plunging earthward. Suddenly they saw the form of a man leap from the machine.

Lufberry's body fell in a little flowering garden while his airplane, still burning dropped to the ground 400 yards away. By the time the first Americans had reached the spot the body of the famous flyer had been taken by the French to the little city hall, where it later was covered with the French tricolor and the great piles of roses and wild flowers.

The German machine which brought Lufberry down, which was armed with two machine guns, with an operator for each piece, apparently escaped.

Lufberry's only wound, aside from those received when he crashed to earth, was a bullet hole through his thumb. Apparently the same bullet punctured one of the gasoline tanks of his machine.

The German machine was under heavy anti-aircraft fire several times both before and after the air fight, and one explosion of a shell upset the enemy plane, but it managed to straighten out again.

Major Lufberry was known throughout the American Army and in the French air service as Luff, and was one of the most popular flyers on the front. He was a daring aviator, but noted for his coolness as well as his dash.

U-BOATS RENEW THEIR OFFENSES

Norway Suffers from Activities of German Undersea Craft. Some Stories.

Christiania, Norway, May 21.—German submarines again have started unrestricted warfare on Norwegian fishing boats in the Arctic ocean, north and east of the Norwegian Coast.

Fishermen saved from sunken vessels and landed at Hammerfest report that the commander of a U-boat stated that all vessels met by him would be sunk. Norwegian ships especially would be destroyed because, he said, the Norwegians were sending fish oil and seal oil to England. This, however, is contrary to the truth as the export of oils is forbidden and Germany knows it.

The U-boats are said to shell vessels without warning and, according to the survivors, direct a fire against lifeboats.

Russian fishing boats and a Russian mail steamer from Vardoe, eastward-bound and overcrowded with passengers, also were shelled. Eight persons, among them a postmaster and his assistants, were killed on the deck of the steamer. Many others were hurt after taking to the boats.

When the commander of one German submarine was advised that Russia was at peace with Germany he answered that he acted the way it suited him."

MANY KILLED IN RAID ON LONDON

German Aviators Take Next to Heaviest Toll since they Started.

MANY WOMEN ARE KILLED

Little Damage Outside of London. Anti-Aircraft Guns Keep us Continuous Firing.

London, May 21.—Thirty seven persons were killed and 155 injured in the London area during Sunday night's air raid.

Six persons were injured in the provinces. The casualties are divided as follows:

London and the metropolitan police district—Killed: Men, 17; women, 14; children, 6; total, 37.

Injured: Men, 83; women, 49; children, 23; total, 155.

Provinces—Injured: Men, 2; women, 3; children, 1; total, 6.

Considerable damage to property has been reported.

Beside the four raiders already announced as having been destroyed during the air raid on London, a fifth was brought down and fell flaming in the sea. Two others also are reported to have fallen at sea, but definite confirmation of this is lacking, according to a supplementary statement issued by the War Office.

The attack probably was the most ambitious ever undertaken. Never before was there such a continual volley of firing from the British anti-aircraft batteries.

Thousands of people had their first experience in a raid. They were persons from many points of England, Scotland and Wales, who took advantage of the Whitsuntide holidays, which run from Saturday until Tuesday, to visit the metropolis. On the other hand thousands of Londoners had gone to the country and seashore resorts. They cut short these visits and hurried back to London to learn the fate of their homes and relatives.

Except for a few brief pauses, the gunners blazed away with a terrific concentration of fire. The raiding Gothas flew at a great height, the majority of them keeping well up to 12,000 feet in a very clear sky.

Several of the German machines flew over London. Although they kept at a great height their motors could plainly be heard from the streets.

More deaths and injuries to innocent inhabitants of London were caused in the German air raid Sunday night than any raid this year except that of January 28, when 58 people were killed and 173 were injured.

This was the sixth raid of the year, the last one having been made March 7. The provinces got off lightly as usual, virtually all the bombs dropped outside of London having fallen into open places. In fact it appeared as though the raiders on being foiled in their attempt to reach London, got rid of their bombs in spots where it was impossible to do serious damage. This, however, could not have been known by them, as they were flying at a great height.

Spectators had a splendid view of an aerial fight which resulted fatally to one of the raiders. His machine fell in flames.

CHAOS IN UKRAINE

Ruthless German Methods Exasperating the Populace.

London, May 21.—The ruthless methods of the Germans in attempting to gather foodstuffs in the Ukraine are meeting with bitter opposition from the exasperated populace, according to a Russian government wireless message received here. District assemblies throughout the Ukraine decided to burn all bread and other provisions. The landowners were declared to be outcasts.

Twenty thousand peasants attempted to hold an assembly of their own in Kiev, but they were dispersed by the Germans.

Everywhere the Germans are appointing their own officials, while the country is groaning from hunger, misery and slavery. The Russian statement says that thousands are attempting to flee to Great Russia. The members of the Rada are regarded as traitors.

AMERICAN STEAMER SUNK

Freighter McCullough Sent Down by Mine or Torpedo.

Washington, May 21.—The American cargo steamer J. G. McCullough has been sunk by a mine or torpedo in foreign waters, the Navy Department is advised. It was reported that all hands were saved except Engineer Daughtry.

The vessel was built in 1890 at Buffalo and under the name of the S. C. Reynolds was used for a number of years in lake trade. She registered 1,805 tons gross.

NEGRO SOLDIERS WIN HIGH PRAISE

Two Sentries Hold off Twenty Germans. Are Commended by General Pershing.

Washington, May 21.—General Pershing's communique gives eloquent testimony to the spirit of democracy which knows no race nor color. It says:

"Headquarters American Expeditionary Forces, May 19, 1918.—Section A—As a result of the activity of the air forces on both sides the day was quiet at all points occupied by our troops. Our aviators brought down two hostile machines.

"Section B—Reports in hand show a notable instance of bravery and devotion shown by two soldiers of an American colored regiment operating in a French sector. Before daylight on May 15 Private Henry Johnson and Private Roberts, while on sentry duty at some distance from one another, were attacked by a German raiding party estimated at 20 men, who advanced in two groups, attacking at once from flank and rear.

"Both men fought bravely in hand-to-hand encounters, one resorting to the use of a Bolo knife after his rifle jammed, and further fighting with bayonet and butt became impossible. There is evidence that at least one, and probably a second, German was severely cut. A third is known to have been shot.

"Attention is drawn to the fact that the two colored sentries were first attacked and continued fighting after receiving wounds, and despite the use of grenades by a superior force. They should be given credit for preventing, by their bravery, the capture of any of our men. Three of our men were wounded, two by grenades. All are recovering and the wounds in two cases are slight."

NAVAL PROGRAM IS AMBITIOUS

Large Budget is Prepared. Will Greatly Increase Size of Enlisted Force.

Washington, May 21.—Carrying a total of $1,587,000,000, or $202,840,000 more than provided by the House, the Naval Appropriation Bill was completed late yesterday by the Senate Naval Committee and will be reported to the Senate to-day.

The measure's total is $63,053,127 less than was appropriated for the Navy for the fiscal year in the regular naval bill and in deficiency measures.

The Senate committee redrafted to make more emphatic the provision in the House bill for the beginning of work on the three-year building program by July, 1919. Construction of the great fleet of super-dreadnaughts and battle cruisers provided in the 1916 naval bill has been held in abeyance in order that the building of destroyers to battle German submarines might be rushed.

To man the capital fleet when it is completed, the Senate provided for a permanent increase in the enlisted personnel of the navy to 131,540, nearly three times the number of men in the Navy before the war. The President also would be authorized to increase that strength by 50,000 men for the war.

FOR MEN OVERSEAS

Wa. Department to Take Over Handling of Mail.

Washington, May 21.—Delivery of mail to and its collection from the American Expeditionary Forces has been taken over by the War Department.

Postmaster General Burleson, in making this announcement, said the Postoffice Department had insisted on the Army conducting its own mail service in France, because of the refusal of the military authorities charged with the conduct of operations there to disclose to the postal authorities the location and movement of troops.

Mail for the troops overseas will be delivered by the Postoffice Department to Army authorities at the ports of embarkation in the United States, and that from the soldiers abroad will be received by the Postoffice Department at a port in France for its dispatch to America.

COMPLETE STEEL SHIPS

Fourteen Others, Some Wood, have been Launched.

Washington, May 21.—Ten steel ships of 58,850 aggregate tonnage were completed and delivered to the Emergency Fleet Corporation during the past week and 14 others, some wood and some steel, of 43,000 tons, were launched.

On Saturday four wooden ships left the ways, the third time during the present month when four vessels of this type were launched in a single day. The total number of wooden ships launched in May to date is 22.

CAPTAIN BIDDLE FOUND

American Aviator was Believed to have been Killed.

Paris, May 21.—Captain Charles J. Biddle, of Andalusia, Pa., chief of a patrol of the Lafayette Squadron, who recently was reported lost after a fight with the Germans, was found Saturday by French scouts in No Man's Land with a bullet through his leg. His machine was wrecked. He was brought to the rear for treatment in a hospital.

Captain Biddle ascended a few days ago and engaged a German machine. The American was seen to plunge as though his airplane had been hit. He descended in a spiral until within a short distance of the ground, where he apparently righted his craft for a moment but finally crashed. He was given up for lost until the French patrol discovered him.

STATE POLICE EXEMPT

Members in Service May 18 will be Placed in Class 5.

Members of the State Police Force in service May 18 are entitled to be given deferred classification under the draft, but men who entered the force after May 18 will not be accorded that privilege, according to word received by Major W. G. Murdock, the State draft officer.

The order came from Washington and directs that all local boards review the classifications of men who are in the State Police and place them in class five. The effect of this will be to make it very unlikely that any of them will be called. However, registrants who enlist hereafter in the force will have to keep their number and classification.

ANOTHER ACTION

Carlisle Schools Will Drop German Courses from Curriculum.

At a special meeting, the Carlisle board of education decided to oust the study of German at the close of the present year. It will be replaced by French and Spanish, the former compulsory for two years and elective for a similar period.

The commercial classes will get three years Spanish and will also be taught business composition and spelling as an added feature. German was taught there for many years. Another language to go into the discard is Greek, this being out of the new program because no pupil will elect it.

Fish Wear Out Bridge Piles.
John Shafer, Jr., deputy in the office of County Surveyor Frank Haycock of Hennessey county, New York, says that fish have butted and rubbed up against the piles of the bridge at Orono, Lake Minnetonka, until that aged edifice has become weakened, necessitating its closing.

Shafer and Edward Terrell, another deputy, were sent out to inspect the span.

"Yes, sir," said Shafer, "those fish kept on butting up against that pier until the wood was almost worn away. In order to get there we had to pound the water around the place to keep the funny things away until we could finish our inspection."

"Why, those fish are so numerous at Minnetonka this year that they get pushed through the narrow passage so swift that they simply wear out the wood."

WORDS OF WISE MEN

Economy makes happy homes and sound nations. Isaiah 66:12.

The common secret of want of success in life is a tendency to let things drift.

The food of the home is not meat and bread, but thoughtfulness and unselfishness, for these keep joy alive.

What is wanted in society everywhere is the generous temper which seeks the good in human nature and refuses to think the worst.

Evil passions are poisons. Hatred for another wreaks its worst vengeance upon self; suspicion and jealousy work out their own poisons by injuring mind and body.

FIRE DESTROYS BAKERY

Fire destroyed the Schmidt Bakery plant in Carlisle Monday morning and it will be some time until it is in operation. Smoke and flames and water proved great destructive forces. Whilst the firemen confined the loss by fire to the northern end of the building, water deluged other portions of the plant and upper portions especially were pretty thoroughly soaked. Smoke poured out of windows and the roof in dense volumes and but for the quick and effective work of the firemen the building would not only have been quickly destroyed in its entirety but surrounding property would have been in far more imminent danger.

NEW PLANT OPENED

Business is booming at Carlisle's newest industrial plant, the Carlisle Tire and Rubber factory. Its capacity has already reached 600 tubes a day and Charles S. Moomy, head of the plant, said that this will be increased as the men become more familiar with the machinery. About 40 men are now on the pay-roll and a good pay-roll it is. Some of the men Friday earned $6.99 for their day's work and the day before $5.15. Others are earning $4.00 per day and the present schedule will not be changed. Men are being employed daily and the plant promises to become, as predicted the Cumberland Valley's leading industry in the not far distant future.

ANOTHER FIRE IN HOLLY

Mt. Holly Springs was greatly excited by reason of another fire in that town which broke out Friday afternoon about 2:45 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Shupp, a house owned by Joseph Keller. It is a two story frame building, and it is believed the fire originated from a defective flue. Mrs. Shupp is very deaf, and was apprised of the fire in her home by neighbors who gave the alarm. The fire company of the town was on the job in a jiffy and saved a goodly portion of the front part of the house, a frame house adjoining, owned by Mrs. Burkholder and occupied by Mrs. Cornman, and the Evangelical Church on the other side of the burning property. The Shupps' household goods were consumed and damaged generally as little or none was removed.

FRANKLIN COUNTY

PLAN BIG EVENT

The Harvest Home Picnic Association of Franklin County met in the Trust Building, Chambersburg, on Saturday afternoon and discussed plans for the coming sale and exhibit at Red Bridge Park. It was decided to hold the picnic on Friday and Saturday, September 6 and 7, followed by the annual stock sale on Monday, September 9. This will make a three-day event and will attract many additional exhibitors.

The first two days will be devoted to the judging of live stock and the awarding of the prizes. Boys' pig club and calf club will be added attractions. It was also decided, if possible, to add a poultry exhibit, in charge of John B. Crawford, of Fayetteville.

A movement was also started to purchase or lease grounds from the Franklin Realty Company and erect permanent buildings. A committee was named to meet representatives of the company at the grounds on Monday, May 27, at 4 o'clock to go over the situation.

It was stated at the meeting that if better stabling of horses and cattle could be secured a much larger and more varied exhibit would result, with a larger territory of the county represented. Farmers and breeders are taking more interest in the event and the picnic has already proved a strong factor in bringing better bred stock before the farmer.

The Call From No Man's Land

OUR PRISONERS HELD BY ENEMY

And how War Department Keeps Account of American Soldiers in their Hands.

RELATIVES GIVEN NEWS

Promptly Informed of the Status and Movements of Men. Letters and Parcels may be Sent.

Relatives of American soldiers who are prisoners of war are being promptly informed of their status and movements so far as it is possible to obtain the facts. This task is being performed by the prisoners of war section of the miscellaneous division of The Adjutant General's office in the War Department with the co-operation of the Red Cross.

Up to date this section has forwarded information to relatives of about 300 imprisoned Americans, nearly 200 of these being civilians, including members of ship crews, who were interned in Germany at the outbreak of the war. While considerably more than 100 American soldiers have been reported by Gen. Pershing as missing, only about this number have been located in prison camps. No reports have been received relative to the whereabouts of 183 Americans claimed by the Germans to have been captured in a recent engagement. Some of these probably have been included in the lists of the missing.

First News in a Week

As a rule reports of the location of prisoners have reached the prisoners of war section of the War Department through the Red Cross within a week or ten days after their capture. Usually the first reports give the temporary camp to which the prisoners are taken. Often the prisoners are moved to a second and sometimes a third camp. In each case the word usually comes through without much delay.

Under the system adopted, telegrams are sent to relatives first when the men are reported by Gen. Pershing as missing. These telegrams are sent by the statistical division of The Adjutant General's Office, which also handles casualties. The next telegrams are sent to relatives when information arrives relative to their whereabouts in prison camps. These telegrams go from the Prisoners of War Section.

Simultaneously circular letters are sent to relatives by the Prisoners of War Section informing them how they may communicate with the captured soldiers. As later information arrives regarding the transfer of prisoners from one camp to another telegrams are sent promptly to the relatives.

It is a surprise to many to learn how easily it is possible for relatives to communicate with prisoners. Prisoners of war are entitled to receive and send letters, money orders, and valuables, as well as parcels by post, not exceeding 11 pounds in weight. When intended for international mail these are free from all postal duties.

Addressing of Mail

The mail should be addressed to the prisoner, giving his rank, full name, and the name of the prison camp, if known, followed by "Prisoner of War Mail, via New York". The name and address of the sender must be given on the upper left-hand corner, and in the case of parcel-post packages the relationship of the sender to the prisoner also must be clearly stated.

The reason for this is that only one package may be sent per month and if a greater number is sent, the one apparently from the prisoner's next of kin is forwarded, and the others held in New York pending communication with the sender, with whose consent such excess packages may be forwarded to some other prisoner who in that particular month has received no package from any source.

Subject to Strict Censorship Letters are subject to a careful censorship and are not permitted to contain anything of a military nature or to relate to any commercial transaction. No leather goods may be forwarded and no periodicals except those published prior to the beginning of the war. Articles which may be sent include sweaters, towels, underwear, socks, handkerchiefs, gloves, needles and thread, shirts, shoe laces, tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, toilet articles, including brushes, soap, tooth paste, and shaving materials, hard candy, crackers or biscuits, pens, pencils, and pocket knives.

HELP LOCAL BOARDS

Women Render Efficient Aid to the Draft Committees.

Women in many states are helping in the work of the local draft boards. School teachers, who were already assisting, had not the leisure for all the work needed and, in response to an appeal from Provost Marshal General Crowder, the state councils turned to the divisions of the woman's committee, Council of National Defense, to obtain clerical help.

The woman's committee reports that in Arkansas, one of the 27 States in which it has taken an official registration of women for war service, the chairmen of Pulaski County was able to print in the local newspapers a list of more than 150 women volunteers, and next day telephone lines were kept busy by women answering the first call they had received from the Government.

In Ohio Gov. Cox requested that the county units of the woman's committee furnish the necessary volunteers. Only 5 out of the 88 units proved unequal to the call. Within 10 days the work was completed. In Illinois the registration cards were used and women were asked to work in taking industrial histories from the draft questionnaires, which were then entered on occupational cards for transmission to Washington. The draft administration in Wisconsin has been using women for many months.

The captain of a Spanish schooner, who was on board the submarine, was taken on the trawler, which returned without injury.

FORD CAR BRINGS A SHOWER BATH EVERY AFTERNOON

Babies Grow Whiter as Doctor and Nurse Serve Daily Baths From Door to Door.

"Good morning. We have come to give the children their bath," this, of course, said in good French. Then from out the motor car slides a portable shower bath, carried into the house by doctor and nurse.

For the next half hour that little cottage boasts of a bathroom in active service, for when the water is heated the blessing of a warm, clean shower pumped by the doctor falls on the head of Young France, while the nurse scrubs religiously and the darkening water bears witness of a whiter, cleaner child.

And as you might well imagine, the kiddies like it, except the last cold dash that the doctor slyly engineers by quickly transferring the supply pipe into a bucket of cold water—for hygienic effect.

And what a blessing it is to these meek, tortured people, who for months have been without all of life's comforts and most of life's necessities, to be ministered to in this fashion.

It is perhaps understandable to them that "les Américains" out of sheer pity might offer them that meager thing that civilization calls "charity." But to be clothed, fed, sheltered and cheered as they have been by our Red Cross is more than they can understand.

For they have seen a great miracle grow out of the darkest pit of human experience. They have seen a bright light out of which has stepped the ministering angel who has brought them to smile again. They are no longer sick. They are no longer cold nor hungry. And now, wonder of wonders, this same good friend has contrived in some magic way—within the sound of the guns—to give them—baths.

Changed Subject of Woe.

Irene was crying in bed because her mamma insisted she should wear a certain nightgown. At last mamma said: "Why, Irene, how foolish to cry about that! You'll sleep just as well in that gown as any other." She stopped long enough to say, very dignified: "But, mamma, you don't know, I've changed my mind and I'm crying about another thing now."

25 TONS OF ETHER— THAT'S ONE ITEM

Only the quickest action imaginable, which included the shipment of tremendous quantities of hospital supplies from Red Cross stores in France, as well as large purchases in Italy, made the emergency work of the American Red Cross possible during the recent distress in Italy brought about by the rout of the Italian army.

No such mission for human help has ever seen the like of this heroic work by the American Red Cross in Italy.

For the winter's needs it was found that 750 tons of hospital supplies were required, and these were ordered in America for immediate delivery to Italy.

Some of the things ordered were anesthetics, surgical instruments, rubber goods, enamel ware, gauze, absorbent cotton and drugs. Just what such a shipment means is difficult for a layman to grasp.

If you'd like to see your druggist lose all his business at once just tell him about some of these quantities that were ordered for use in Italy.

Tell him that 250 pounds of quinine were ordered. Since the war quinine has been difficult to get at any price.

BED, BATH AND BOARD IN JUNCTION CANTEEN

Brings Heaven a Little Nearer to an American Sammie.

A mother who is a Red Cross worker in her home town gave to her chapter the following letter she had received from her son in France:

"If you could have seen me yesterday, when I left trenches which the rains have turned into open sewers, even you would never have known me, I was mud from head to foot, so covered with crawling things that the poorest tramp in the world would have run from me, and I fairly ached for rest."

"You see, my first furlough had begun, and I caught a train for Paris. We were packed into a freight car. Travel is so congested we spent most of our time stopping. At last, when night came, we were dumped out at a railway junction with the information that the train for Paris would be along the next day."

Canteen Like New York Hotel.

"I tell you I was discouraged. Then suddenly across the tracks from our station I saw an American Red Cross canteen, and all my troubles were at an end."

"Lots of people must have the same idea of these canteens that I used to have—just little shacks where you were handed out a cup of sloppy coffee. We are all wrong. These Red Cross places beat a New York hotel for variety of service, even if they don't have the gilt furniture and tip takers. Here is what happened to me:

"First I had a bath, a real one, with plenty of soap and water. While I was getting clean my clothes, every stitch, were cleaned and sterilized. Then I had a meal of real American cooking, actually sitting down at a table to eat it. After that I went into the canteen barber shop and had a shave and haircut. Then, being a gentleman of leisure, I strolled into the canteen movie theater and saw some good American films. However, I soon turned in for the night into a clean, dry bed that felt like heaven—or home."

"And now this morning, after a fine breakfast, I am sitting in the canteen writing this letter to you and waiting comfortably for my train. You just can't possibly imagine what these Red Cross women are doing for us soldiers and for the French and English, too. Each canteen takes care of thousands every day."

"They make us feel like human beings once again and give us the nerve to go on with this game of licking the Kaiser. And when we win you can give a good share of the victory to the American Red Cross."

Correct Observer.

A restaurant manager says that young women handle money more rapidly than the older ones, and we don't doubt it for a moment. The amount of money that can pass through the hands of a young woman has frequently puzzled a young husband who thought he was something of a spendthrift himself. —Boston Transcript.

It has jumped from $250 a pound in France to $80 a pound. Quinine is very badly needed in Italy, and this Red Cross shipment has been nothing short of a boon.

Other items which give a better idea in terms of the things which mean most to the wounded are 15 tons of chloroform and 25 tons of ether. These items are beyond the power of the layman to visualize, but he can come nearer to picturing 2,000 bales of absorbent cotton, the quantity asked for.

Orders for all these goods for Italy were placed last winter in America, and the American Red Cross has seen to it that shipments of each item are in process of delivery right along to relieve the terrible misfortune of the people in Italy.

Over 1,000 Repatriated French Arrive at Evian Daily.

The number of "repatriates" arriving at Evian daily varies from 1,000 to 1,500. Two trains a day come into this little town loaded with these unfortunate, most of them children under fourteen years of age. The task that the American Red Cross has undertaken is the care of these little children.

CHAPTER XXV.

Preparing for the Big Push. Rejoining Atwell after the execution I had a hard time trying to keep my secret from him. I think I must have lost at least ten pounds worrying over the affair.

Beginning at seven in the evening it was our duty to patrol all communication and front-line trenches, making note of unusual occurrences, and arresting anyone who should, to us, appear to be acting in a suspicious manner. We slept during the day.

Behind the lines there was great activity, supplies and ammunition pouring in, and long columns of troops constantly passing. We were preparing for the big offensive, the forerunner of the battle of the Somme or "Big Push."

The never-ending stream of men, supplies, ammunition and guns pouring into the front lines made a mighty spectacle, one that cannot be described. It has to be witnessed with your own eyes to appreciate its vastness.

At our part of the line the influx of supplies never ended. It looked like a huge snake slowly crawling forward, never a hitch or break, a wonderful tribute to the system and efficiency of Great Britain's "contemptible little army" of five millions of men.

Huge fifteen-inch guns snaked along, foot by foot, by powerful steam tractors. Then a long line of "four point five" batteries, each gun drawn by six horses, then a couple of "nine point two" howitzers pulled by immense caterpillar machines.

Over the Top in a Charge.

When one of these caterpillars would pass me with its mighty monster in tow, a flush of pride would mount to my face, because I could plainly read on the name plate, "Made in U. S. A." and I would remember that if I were a name plate it would also read, "From the U. S. A." Then I would stop to think how thin and straggly that mighty stream would be if all the "Made in U. S. A." parts of it were withdrawn.

Then would come hundreds of limbers and "G. S." wagons drawn by sleek, well-fed mules, ridden by sleek, well-fed men, ever smiling, although grimy with sweat and covered with the fine, white dust of the marvelously well-made French roads.

What a discouraging report the German airmen must have taken back to their division commanders, and this stream is slowly but surely getting bigger and bigger every day, and the pace is always the same. No slower, no faster, but ever onward, ever forward.

Three weeks before the big push of July 1—as the battle of the Somme has been called—started, exact duplicates of the German trenches were dug about thirty miles behind our lines. The layout of the trenches was taken from airplane photographs submitted by the Royal flying corps. The trenches were correct to the foot; they showed dugouts, saps, barbed wire defenses and danger spots.

Battalions that were to go over in the first waves were sent back for three days to study these trenches, engage in practice attacks and have night maneuvers. Each man was required to make a map of the trenches and familiarize himself with the names and location of the parts his battalion was to attack.

In the American army noncommissioned officers are put through a course of map making or road sketching, and during my six years' service in the United States cavalry I had plenty of practice in this work, therefore mapping these trenches was a comparatively easy task for me. Each man had to submit his map to the company commander to be passed upon, and I was lucky enough to have mine selected as being sufficiently authentic to use in the attack.

No photographs or maps are allowed to leave France, but in this case it appealed to me as a valuable souvenir of the great war and I managed to smuggle it through. At this time it carries no military importance as the British Times, I am happy to say, have since been advanced beyond this point, so in having it in my possession I am not breaking any regulation or cautions of the British army.

The whole attack was rehearsed and rehearsed until we heartily cursed the one who had conceived the idea. The trenches were named according to a system which made it very simple for Tommy to find, even in the dark, any point in the German lines.

These imitation trenches, or trench models, were well guarded from observation by numerous allied planes which constantly circled above them. No German airplane could approach within observation distance. A restricted area was maintained and no civilian was allowed within three miles, so we felt sure that we had a great surprise in store for Fritz.

When we took over the front line we received an awful shock. The Germans displayed signboards over the top of their trench showing the names that we had called their trenches. The signs read "Fair," "Fact," "Fate," and "Fancy," and so on, according to the code names on our map. Then to rub it in, they hoisted some more signs which read, "Come on, we are ready, stupid English."

It is still a mystery to me how they obtained this knowledge. There had been no raids or prisoners taken, so it must have been the work of spies in our own lines.

Three or four days before the big push we tried to shatter Fritz's nerves by feint attacks, and partially succeeded as the official reports of July 1 show.

Although we were constantly bombarding their lines day and night, still we fooled the Germans several times. This was accomplished by throwing an intense barrage into his lines—then using smoke shells we would put a curtain of white smoke across No Man's Land, completely obstructing his view of our trenches, and would raise our curtain of fire as if in an actual attack. All down our trenches the men would shout and cheer, and Fritz would turn loose with machine-gun, rifle, and shrapnel fire, thinking we were coming over.

After three or four of these dummy attacks his nerves must have been near the breaking point.

On June 24, 1916, at 9:30 in the morning our guns opened up, and hell was let loose. The din was terrific, a constant boom-boom-boom in your ear.

At night the sky was a red glare. Our bombardment had lasted about two hours when Fritz started replying. Although we were sending over ten shells to his one, our casualties were heavy. There was a constant stream of stretchers coming out of the communication trenches and burial parties were a common sight.

In the dugouts the noise of the guns almost hurt. You had the same sensation as when riding on the subway you enter the tube under the river going to Brooklyn—a sort of pressure on the ear drums, and the ground constantly trembling.

The roads behind the trenches were very dangerous because Boche shrapnel was constantly bursting over them. We avoided these dangerous spots by crossing through open fields.

The destruction in the German lines was awful and I really felt sorry for them because I realized how they must be clicking it.

From our front-line trench, every now and again, we could hear sharp whistle blasts in the German trenches. These blasts were the signals for stretcher bearers, and meant the wounding or killing of some German in the service of his fatherland.

Atwell and I had a tough time of it, patrolling the different trenches at night, but after awhile got used to it.

My old outfit, the machine gun company, was stationed in huge elephant dugouts about four hundred yards behind the front-line trench—they were in reserve. Occasionally I would stop in their dugout and have a confab with my former mates. Although we tried to be jolly, still, there was a lurking feeling of impending disaster. Each man was wondering, if, after the slogan, "Over the top with the best of luck," had been sounded, would he still be alive or would he be lying "some-where in France." In an old dilapidated house, the walls of which were scarred with machine-gun bullets, No. 3 section of the machine gun company had its quarters. The company's cooks prepared the meals in this billet. On the fifth evening of the bombardment a German eight-inch shell registered a direct hit on the billet and wiped out ten men who were asleep in the supposedly bomb-proof cellar. They were buried the next day and I attended the funeral.

Straightening Wire.
Stray pieces of copper wire have many uses, but it often is necessary to straighten out wire that has already been used. See that there are no sharp bends or kinks in the wire and straighten out by hand any such that are found. Fasten an end of the wire to some firm anchorage; grip it in the vise if need be. Loop the other end of the wire around a hammer handle or similar instrument and then pull out the length of the wire. Repeat the operation as often as necessary. If the wire is of soft copper it will stretch a little, which improves it.

WOMEN CONTROL TOWN'S DESTINY

Can Make or Break a Community Through Exercise of Their Buying Power.

THEY HOLD PURSE STRINGS

It is Estimated That at Least 80 Per Cent of Retail Purchasing is Done by Feminine Shoppers.

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.) It has been said that the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world and nowhere is this more literally true than in the world of trade. The woman is the purchasing agent of the household and man, as a rule, is very glad to have her handle the job.

It has been estimated by some students of the merchandising game that 80 per cent of all retail buying is done by women. This may be a high estimate but a visit to the retail stores of any town or city is enough to convince one that the figures are not too high. The preponderance of women among the buyers is sufficient, at any rate, to make not only the retailer but the manufacturer and the wholesaler realize that it is the women that they must please with their merchandise.

Because they do by far the greater part of the buying in any community, the women have a responsibility that they do not always appreciate. The women of a town, through their buying power, can make or break the merchants of a town and as a natural consequence they can make or break the town. It is in their power to make it a prosperous town or a dead town. When the women of a town acquire the mail order habit, the town may just as well begin making arrangements for its own obsequies.

Hard to Understand. Just why a woman, who is a shopper by instinct and a shrewd judge of values in merchandise, should succumb to the lures of the mail order house it is difficult to understand but, unfortunately, some of them do. No one knows better than the woman who has had some experience in the buying of merchandise how difficult it is to distinguish between the genuine and the imitation even after a close inspection. The good shopper, when on buying bent, does not always take the first article that is offered for inspection. In fact this is the exception rather than the rule. The merchants know it and expect it. They expect a woman, if she is a good shopper, to "look around a little."

If a woman should walk into a retail store and purchase the first suit that she tried on, for instance, the shock probably would prove fatal to the storekeeper or the saleswoman. The chances are that she will try on a dozen suits and look at as many more before she selects one that suits her taste or pocketbook, and the storekeeper not only expects but wishes her to do this. He wishes her to be satisfied as he knows that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement that he can obtain.

Taking a Chance.

This same woman, however, may order a suit from a mail order house on the strength of nothing more than a pretty picture and an alluring description. She has not even the opportunity to try it on, to say nothing of the chance of examining the fabric, noting the exact shade of the material and inspecting the workmanship. She is taking chances on the suit fitting her, on the material being good and durable, the shade becoming to her and the workmanship of such a character that the suit will not fall to pieces. The woman who takes such chances cannot be called a shrewd shopper.

It might be more easily understood why more men, unaccustomed and averse, as a rule, to shopping excursions, should fall a victim to the catalogue habit. He might find it easier to order from the picture in the catalogue than to go to a store and look for the article that he wanted or he might take the position that he wouldn't know what he was getting anyway if he went to the store and he might as well take a chance on the mail order gamble, but why the woman who knows what she wants and knows that she is getting what she wants when she gets it should buy on the "sight unseen" plan—well, that's another question altogether.

Woman's Greatest Opportunity.

Women are taking a more and more prominent part in public affairs all the time. They are aiding now in many parts of the country in running the affairs of state. Even where they do not have the ballot they are playing a big part, individually and through their organizations, in the conduct particularly of local governments, yet in the one field where they can do most to help build up their communities they may be overlooking their opportunity. With the buying power in their hands they can do more for their community by stanchly supporting their home business men than they can possibly do in any other way.

Man may think he is a very important element in the progress and development of his town but when he reflects that 80 per cent of the buying power of the community is in the hands of the women he is apt to realize that he is a very insignificant atom.

Why worry about the high price of butter, lard and olive oil—Use Mazola, the oil from Corn, for cooking and salad dressings

MAZOLA, the pure oil from Indian Corn, enables you to make better, tastier pastries, fried and sautéed dishes and salad dressings than you ever did before—with vastly more economy.

Mazola is so pure and uniform in quality that foods cooked in it or shortened with it hold all their natural flavor—are far more delicate and easy to digest. And, as Mazola never carries taste or odor from one food to another (even fish or onions) it can be used over and over again.

Perfect for salad dressings—makes them smooth and savory—fully as good as the best olive oil for this purpose and much better than the poorer grades of olive oil which are on the market today.

For sale in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons. For greater economy buy the large sizes.

There is a valuable Cook Book for Mazola users. It shows you how to fry, sauté, make dressings and sauces more delicious, make light digestible pastry. Should be in every home. Send for it or ask your grocer. FREE.

THE ONLY WAY

The one and only way to secure positive increase from every acre planted this year is to increase the fertility of the soil. The least expensive, least trouble, and surest way to do this is to apply stable manure in a light, even top dressing with a Low Corn King manure spreader. The manure is already accumulated. The soil needs it and will respond to proper spreading. Five to eight tons to the acre does the business. No more help, no more power is needed. Just buy and use a light draft.

LOW CORN KING MANURE SPREADER

Wheels just the right distance apart, and spread wide enough to top dress three rows of corn at once. Three sizes—small, medium and large. All narrow boxes. All steel frames with working parts of the spreader securely attached to the frame. Turns short. Drive from both rear wheels. Return apron driven by worm gear which insures even spreading up hill and down. Pull comes straight on steel frame. Solid two-inch rear axle working in roller bearings carries seventy five per cent of the load. All-steel beater cannot warp, shrink, or rot. Built up to International Harvester standards of quality in every respect.

Buy a Corn King spreader and use it. The increased yield from a few acres will pay for your spreader this year. Come in and place your order now.

Love's Mission

By LILLIAN MORSE ATTERBURY

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

"I am going away for a month, Winnie," spoke Sidney Marsh, and his earnest eyes viewed with ardent longing the lovely face of his companion. He had found her seated on a rustic bench in the home garden, her eyes fixed on vacancy, with a saddened, far-away expression.

"Oh, I am so sorry!" She spoke quickly, making way for him on the bench beside her. "You know I shall miss my very truest and most cherished friend."

"You are kind to say so," he murmured. Friend! The word struck his heart with a chill.

They had been great chums. All through the royal summer they had paired off at social functions as naturally as would a boy and girl brought up as neighbors.

For the past month, however, Sidney had not seen so much as usual of Winnie. A young man named Alger Ward drove over in his automobile from the next town at least twice a week, and was the guest of Winnie and her family. Then rumors became current that they were engaged.

"Where are you going?" Winnie asked.

"To Springfield. My uncle has some business investments I shall look after. Why!" he exclaimed, as at the announcement made there came to her eyes tears, and both her hands clasped his arm in an appealing way.

"Oh, Sidney! If you are going to the city, won't you try and see Ned?"

"Your brother? Yes, indeed. It has been in my mind all along. Dear old Ned! How is he getting along, Winnie?"

"You must know—only, Sidney," almost whispered Winnie. "I am afraid Ned is not doing well. You know father gave him quite a sum to start out right until he got placed. At first Ned wrote every week. Then once a month only. Two weeks ago I received a letter from Ned asking me to send him quite a sum of money. The address he gave me was not the business house where he was at first employed."

"Winnie, don't worry," he said soothingly. "Give me the address you spoke of. I'll find Ned, never fear."

His arm had stolen around her in a protecting way. She named the address. Then there was the buzzing of an automobile at the street. "You have company, Winnie," he said gravely. "Please let me leave through the side path."

She, too, had noticed the newcomer. Her hand clasped Sidney's arm, she drew him into the shade of the denser foliage.

"Oh, first good-by, best of friends," she whispered. Sidney, dear Sidney, kiss me before you go."

His brain was in a whirl as her lips met his. He hurried away in a delirium of emotion.

"I have found him at last!" Sidney Marsh spoke the words, crouching in the corner of a wretched hallway.

It had taken him a full week to discover the whereabouts of his missing friend, and now he was in a den infested by thieves and drug users.

Later he knew that Ned Brooks had become addicted to the use of an insidious drug. Those who administered it harbored him, influencing him to secure more and more money. Sidney watched a dusky Mongolian come from a cellar room carrying some dishes, as if he had been taking a meal to the inmate of an apartment beyond a great iron door. Towards it Sidney glided as the man disappeared. It was slightly ajar. He pulled it open. It slammed to and he was a prisoner, too, for upon a wretched mat, pale, attenuated, under the influence of his customary drug, lay the man he sought.

Sidney tried to rouse his friend, but failed. Then he planned to get Ned and himself away from the place before his presence was discovered. The iron door was immovable. Near the ceiling was a window. He leaped to a gas pipe to reach it. He came down with a crash, as his weight parted the pipe, to discover a new appalling menace. The escaping gas was poisoning the air of the room.

Sidney knew that he must work quickly. He picked up some dishes and flung them at the window, smashing out the panes and lessening, through ventilation, the deadly fumes. Then, pulling a table under the window, he lifted Ned in his arms. It cost prodigious effort, but in an hour they were out in the open air of a narrow court.

It took over a week to nurse Ned Brooks back to normal health and reason. Sidney wrote Winnie then. She came to continue the good work for her brother and to reward Sidney with loving gratitude.

"Yes, I must go back next week," Sidney overheard her say to Ned one day. "There is the wedding, you know."

"Then Mr. Ward and your friend Miss Folsom, are to be married at our house?" observed Ned. "Winnie, dear, what about this royal, glorious friend who has done so much for us, Sidney Marsh? I fancied once you two would make a match of it."

"But he has never asked me," submitted Winnie, with a dreary little sigh.

Sidney Marsh did, the next day. He had his cue and acted upon it, and the result was all that his heart desired.

Women, Prepare!

Thousands of women in Pennsylvania have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of woman's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This temperance medicine, though started nearly half a century ago, sells most widely to-day. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce's. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on wrapper.

It is now put up in tablet form. Write confidentially about your case or send 10c for trial pkg. of "Favorite Prescription Tablets" to Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

McKeesport, Pa.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription equally as good as it is advertised to be. A few years ago I had a severe nervous breakdown. I became very weak and thin and could not sleep, when a neighbor of mine advised me to try 'Favorite Prescription' as it had helped her. This

I did, and three bottles cured me of all nervousness and I was once more in good health—thanks to this good medicine. Women who suffer as I did will find great relief in the 'Prescription.'—MRS. EMMA DECKER, 418 Penny Ave.
